These thing were captured a lot. See channel 'Malin Oloier' for a good analyses.
Vinnie, what drone did you use? -- A DJI Phantom 4 (as you mention in other videos of your channel)?

homeruniverse it was a Phantom 4 Pro yes. I have caught these before with a different drone and camera as well.

Thanks. This is for sure an outstanding case, since the object comes down and seemingly changes direction and speed. I work on an extensive report and analysis of these cases. I'd be happy to see other related uploads of you :-), in particular if they seem very interesting to you for one reason or another. You can find playlists on my channel of 50+ other cases.

Is it a bird? A plane?

A strong possibility of a Peregrine Falcon in a dive, but doesn't quite seem like that. Hard to say. Have seen it before with a different drone and camera.
